

25 October – Day of Agricultural Science!

Author(s): Растителна защита
Date: 25.10.2023 Issue: 10/2023

Happy professional holiday to those working in agricultural science!

The team of "Plant Protection" wishes you health, creative energy and a dignified presence in the international research arena!

photo ©: SAA

On 25 October, the institutes of the Agricultural Academy traditionally celebrate the Day of Agricultural Science with the exhibition „Gifts of Nature”, the SAA announced.

According to the programme, the opening of the celebration will begin at 10:45 a.m. with a short folklore performance and a reception of the official guests.

During the official part, the achievements, vision and activities of the Agricultural Academy will be presented by Prof. Dr. Violeta Bozhanova, Deputy President of the SAA, and the Chief Scientific Secretary of the SAA – Prof. Dr. Todorovska will present the newly habilitated scientists within the Academy.

The newly habilitated scientists will also be presented, and they will be awarded certificates of the Academy.

Visitors will also become acquainted with the new varieties and breeds of animals bred by the units of the Agricultural Academy.