

AGRA 2021 will not be held at the end of February

Author(s): Растителна защита
Date: 03.02.2021 Issue: 2/2021

In view of the COVID-19 situation, the International Agricultural Exhibition AGRA 2021, which was to be held from 24 to 28 February, is postponed to a new period of the year.

In accordance with the measures undertaken by the official authorities, new dates will be determined for holding the business forum. They will be announced in due time in order to ensure full-scale preparation of the next successful edition of the International Agricultural Exhibition AGRA 2021.

The International Agricultural Exhibition AGRA covers all areas and sectors of agriculture – science, practice, technologies, machinery, products, services. It presents the best of the achievements of science and business and the most useful developments for farmers and specialists. Agricultural producers can find solutions for the modernization of crop and livestock farms. New varieties of cereals adapted to climate change, technologies and special plant breeding for organic cultivation, harmless fertilizers and plant protection products are only part of the developments offered by global manufacturers and research institutes. In recent years, the presentation of the “Livestock Breeding” sector has expanded, both with high-yielding breeds and with complete equipment for farms. Multifunctional machinery is also among the main highlights.

The exhibition has established itself as a gateway for innovations in agriculture in Southeast Europe and a forum for successful business projects.

The main partner of AGRA is the Agricultural Academy, with all research institutes within its structure participating. A number of sectoral associations also contribute to the organization and holding of the exhibition.

The innovation competition, which is part of the International Agricultural Exhibition, has over the years become an eagerly anticipated contest for new developments in the field of agriculture.