Solemn celebration on the occasion of the professional holiday of those working in the field of Bulgarian agricultural science.

Today, October 24, starting at 11:30 AM at the Agricultural Academy, the Day of Agrarian Science will be celebrated, which is the professional holiday for all those employed in the field of agricultural science. The Minister of Agriculture and Food, Vasil Grudev, will officially open the event.

During the ceremony, diplomas for honorary awards, certificates for the assumption of the academic positions of professor and associate professor, and certificates for approved scientific products will be presented. Guests will also be able to view a richly arranged exhibition showcasing the achievements of the institutes and experimental stations of the Agricultural Academy.
